

“Inline functions are bad for performance”

No they aren't

Are Hooks slow because of creating functions in render?

No. In modern browsers, the raw performance of closures compared to classes doesn't differ significantly except in extreme scenarios.